

EXPLODE BOMB IN HOUSE WHICH POLICE GUARDED

Black Hand Agents Again Try to Wreck Tenement Owned by Francesco Spinelli.

While three policemen—Doyle, Press and Dobbins—who had been especially assigned by Police Captain Shaw, of the Fifth street station, on orders from Commissioner Bingham, were watching the block of tenement houses on Eleventh street, between First and Second avenues, which has been doomed to destruction by the Black Hand Society, a man stole into the hallway of the house at No. 335 at 4 A. M. to-day and dropped a bomb.

Policeman Doyle was not twenty feet away from the man when he walked out of the hallway, and five minutes later when the explosion came the policeman was carried from his feet.

Policeman Press was at the corner of First avenue. He, too, was jarred by the explosion. He saw a man hurrying along Eleventh street, and ordered him to halt. The man said he was Angelo Papena, twenty-two, of No. 338 East Eleventh street.

"I was going to get some groceries," he tried to explain. He was taken to the station-house and later held in $2,000 bail for examination.

Policeman Dobbins was in front of Francesco Spinelli's big tenement house at No. 335. He, too, was shaken by the explosion. Dobbins had been assigned to watch Spinelli's houses, following the many explosions that have taken place in them recently.

Bomb Under Stairs.
The explosion occurred under the stairs in the front hall. On the east side is the butcher shop of Paolo Gerassi, who with his wife and four daughters occupies rooms in the rear. A door was broken down by the bomb and fell, pinning down two of the butcher's daughters, Lucia, twenty-three, and Rose, thirteen. Others in the rooms were buried by falling plastering.

On the west side is the grocery store of Simone Mansueta, who with his family occupy the rear rooms. The grocer's family also were buried by the plastering.

There were eighteen families on the upper floors of the house. The explosion broke all the windows front and rear, and tossed many of the tenants who were sleeping out of their beds. The frightened tenants took to the fire-escapes and began yelling for the police and firemen.

The bomb was evidently made of dynamite, as it broke through the floor and took a downward course. To-day's explosion is believed to have been a warning to the tenants who still live in the block. Since the members of the blackhand society made demands for thousands of dollars from Spinelli scores of tenants living on the block have received letters saying they would be put to death unless they moved at once.

Pursued by Black Hand.
Spinelli a few months ago was regarded as a man of wealth. He owned the tenements at Nos. 314 and 316 and leases the house at No. 326. There he had been a week passing since Spinelli refused to give money to the Black Hand that his property has not been attacked. Then when his tenants began receiving letters many of them moved. Only a few days ago twenty-three families moved out of his houses in one day. He said today he would give up the lease of No. 326.

The last attempt before to wreck Spinelli's property was on June 18, when a bomb was placed in the hallway of No. 316. On May 20 a bomb was set off in No. 314. Several smaller bombs damaged other property in the neighborhood between the time the last bomb was exploded.

The attack of the Black Hand Society on the property in East Eleventh street has caused prices of real estate in that section of the city to depreciate greatly. Houses that formerly were always full of tenants are now being vacated, and apartments in the tenements can be rented for a song.

Spinelli says he will go to the poor-house before he pays money to the blackmailers.

"I may have had some money once," said he, "but I am a poor man today. My refusal to be blackmailed has ruined me."

POLICE UNEARTH ILLICIT STILL IN WILLIAMSBURG

Capture Three Men and Find Elaborate Plant in Cellar of Dwelling.

An elaborately appointed "moonshine" plant that has been distilling whiskey for several months was raided by the Williamsburg police to-day at No. 408 Manhattan avenue, and three prisoners

Janitors, Take Notice

Here's a tip that will save you much work and trouble.

During the warm weather your tenants are sure to kick about musty halls, ill-smelling garbage cans on the sidewalk or in the cellar and foul dumbwaiters or airshafts.

If you want to prevent kicks get a large bottle of a non-poisonous deodorizer like CN Disinfectant and pour a little into a bucket of water. Then start from the top floor and sprinkle it on the carpet all the way down. Pour a little into the airshaft, the dumbwaiter shaft, sprinkle it about the damp corners of the cellar and pour the balance on the garbage which you have collected.

If you do this you will not only please your tenants, but your house will always be fresh and healthy.

were taken, one of whom broke down and confessed when the Federal officers subjected him to a rigorous third degree.

The discovery of the illicit still was made by Policemen Kopke and Gilroy, of the Herbert street station. A citizen had noticed a number of rough-looking men entering the apparently deserted building on Manhattan avenue. It is a two-story little frame house that has long been out of repair and regarded by the police as untenanted.

Kopke and Gilroy watched it. Two hours after midnight they saw a man go up the steps and open the door. They caught him and took him to the station-house. As he refused to say anything beyond the fact that his name is Hyman Levine and his home at No. 316 Hendrix street, the policemen went back to the house with reinforcements and got two more prisoners.

The moonshining apparatus was set up in the cellar. Judging from its appearance it had been in operation several months. The capacity of the still has not yet been determined, but it is estimated that it has turned out many hundred dollars worth of whiskey.

The last two men to be arrested are Harry Havowitz, fifty-four years old, of No. 324 Watkins street, and David Kadaner, thirty-eight years old, of No. 31 Kingston street, this borough. When they were taken to the station-house they refused to make any statement. The Federal authorities were at once notified and took possession of the house. The revenue officers subjected Levine to a grilling and got enough from him, they say, to lead them to the rest of the gang. They also expect to locate other stills in Williamsburg.
